

WINTER

There is definitely a chill in the air as the year moves swiftly into December and the beginning of winter

Task

Talk to your child about the months of December, January and February, and the beginning of winter. Consider what special days occur in the winter and the types of weather we can expect to see. Together think of something which could contribute to our display about winter. Your picture or model can be 2d or 3d and must not be bigger than an A4 piece of paper. It can be one single item, or a winter scene.

Important notes

Model making is an important skill which needs to be developed during the early years in order for children to gain fine motor skills and an understanding of how to use equipment safely. This puts children in good stead as they move through the school.

The children love this type of homework as they enjoy looking at the different interpretations of the same task and seeing everyone's work on the wall. The task also allows for focussed 1:1 time with an older sibling or adult.
