Dear Parents/Carers

Edgewood Remembers

What a busy week we have had remembering those who fought for us in World War One, and those who are continuing to fight for our freedom and peace currently serving in the armed forces.

Our Remembrance Wall

Our Remembrance Wall is filling up nicely as children and staff have each painted a poppy on the wall. Reverend Vanessa Hollingsworth and Major Michael Howard also painted poppies following their assembly on Thursday. Mark Spencer MP has also visited our school this week and painted his poppy.

Cenotaph visit

On Wednesday, a group of children and staff took part in a special ceremony at The Cenotaph in Titchfield Park, Hucknall. The children planted crosses displaying the names of fallen soldiers. They were given information sheets about the fallen soldiers who are remembered on the memorial. Members of the Royal British Legion read poems about remembrance and the last post was played. The children behaved impeccably and were a credit to the school.

Remembrance assembly

Reverend Vanessa Hollingsworth and Major Michael Howard led our assembly on Thursday. During this special assembly, we were reminded of why we remember and the many ways in which we can remember. We made our own giant poppy collage from petals, heard remembrance poems and observed a two-minute silence.
